

We coordinate information and delivery logistics

Our additional service logistics solutions safeguards many different aspects of monitoring and inspection of the logistics flow. Our communication portal xtra.emballator.se is the logistics hub of this service.

Information logistics

Logistics is an important part of our activity here at Emballator. Our customers have many different needs for logistics support and we therefore offer tailored solutions depending on whether we are dealing with a consumer or an industrial customer. The aim of tailored solutions is to meet each customer's needs so far as possible in order to simplify things, save time, and find the most economic solutions.

The concept 'logistics' usually brings to mind an idea of transport to the customer, and here we also have wide experience of selecting an optimum transport solution, which will also be the most economic in each context. On the next page, we illustrate how our communication portal xtra.emballator.se is the hub of our logistics handling.

Delivery logistics

The last link in the chain is transport to the customer, and here we also have wide experience of selecting an optimum transport solution, which will also be the most economic in each context. On the next page, we illustrate how our communication portal xtra.emballator.se is the hub of our logistics handling.

Customer contact

Long-term relationships facilitate and create added value in daily work.

Personal support is obtained through our customer service and sales teams.
Partner customers are served by our cross-functional support team.

Contracts/order

Together, we work out the best way to place an order that will be optimum for you.

Internet sales – ordering is done on our web page.

EDI solution with direct link to your business system.

Just-in-time solution means that deliveries take place at set times in accordance with your rolling forecasts.

Continuous contracts are used for large quantities to ensure agreed production and delivery.

Pallet optimisation – we discuss numbers of products per package/pallet for maximum economy.

Prepress/printing

We create attractive print with our own prepress and printing department.

Personal customer support from our own graphics experts.

The right support – include us in consultations with your advertising agency.

Storage

Storage of printed sheet and fully finished products ensure deliveries and reduce your capital formation.

Stocks of standard products for fast delivery.

Security storage used with large flows to ensure delivery on the day of order.

Transport

We are experienced in choosing the optimum transport solution, which will also be the most financially advantageous in each context.

Transport planning – we coordinate your transport for maximum economy.

Our own vehicles deliver by scheduled routes.

Our own direct vehicles - when urgent deliveries are requested.

External couriers are used for deliveries in general.

Customs handling is carried out by our EDI contact through the customs system which saves transport time since no customs handling by the courier is needed.

Secure procedures give an overall view of logistics flow

Our communication portal xtra.emballator.se is our logistics hub that gives access to a number of functions in real time

Our logistics solutions have made life easier for a lot of people

Along with many of our clients, we have created procedures in logistics flow to ensure better monitoring and control.

“ Our cooperation with Emballator has led to incoming pallet storage being halved, while our order quantity has doubled and supplier security improved ”

“ I work daily on Emballator's communication portal 'Xtra' where I can constantly follow the current status of our orders. My work has been made easier, ordering has been simplified, and delivery security has increased because all information is available on-line when I want it ”

“ Emballator's 'Just-in-time' solution has worked extremely well for us. We get what we need for our production plans and we are very pleased with the result ”

When tailored solutions are needed

A cornerstone of Emballator's business concept is that we regard every customer as unique. Emballator's product range is determined by our customers' needs and the work required to meet these needs. To improve our clarity when communicating with customers, we have divided our offering into three categories: standard, design and innovation. Emballator offers its customers more than tinplate cans. We also provide various support services to improve the market appeal of our clients' products and facilitate their daily routines. Test us – we enjoy challenges!

The development of Emballator's new business concept has perhaps been the most exciting phase in the company's history. The resulting business model is presented on the illustrated tinplate can. In order to meet our customers' demand for integrated solutions, Emballator bases its business concept on five clear core values:

competence
availability
reliability
efficiency and simplicity.

Each of these values plays a vital role in our dealings with clients.

Emballator has grown from a production-oriented company to one that also offers consultancy and a series of peripheral services. Logistics Solutions is one of the most important services with the widest customer applications.
